Restoring Photos Seminar

If photo restoration interests you and you've got a couple of hours and ten bucks to spare this coming Saturday, you might want to visit RetouchPRO.

Our very own Ctein will be presenting a live-over-the-web 2-hour seminar on photo restoration. You'll get to watch Ctein as he restores damaged color photographs. He'll answer your questions about his technique as he works, and more general questions at the end.

(This event is organized and run by RetouchPRO, not TOP or Ctein; if you've got questions about it, please review the information on their website and direct your questions to them.)

I know this sounds a little premature, but maybe in a few years on PBS I can tune into Ctein restoring photos after Bob Ross finishes a landscape. If that happens, it's gonna make crack look like Sanka for non-artistic luddites like myself...
